

It's snow business
Jamie First

The internationally acclaimed, multi award-winning Slava's Snowshow has stormed into town.

Performing Blue Canary and Snow Storm, the show fuses traditional and contemporary theatrical clowning arts.

First created in 1993 by renowned Russian entertainer Slava Polunin, the spectacle has now been seen by millions of people in more than 30 countries.

Drawing on the influence of artists such as Charlie Chaplin, Marcel Marceau and Leonid Engibarov, the show features dream-like fantasies where a bed becomes a boat, a woman wrapped in cellophane becomes flowers in a vase and a child walks inside a bubble.

Running until July 28, tickets start from $69.

Visit ticketmaster.com.au.