

City hotel joins elite Jamie First

A Melbourne hotel has been ranked among the world's best accommodation establishments.

Art Series – The Blackman was placed 580th overall and ninth in Australia.

The hotel's director of sales and marketing, Ryan Tuckerman, said the team at the St Kilda Rd hotel was very excited to be recognised on a world scale.

“It's so much easier to book online these days so the award is really a fantastic steppingstone to welcome a lot more domestic and international guests,” Mr Tuckerman said.

Sea Temple Surfers Paradise was the highest-rated on the Aussie list and 228nd globally.

One&Only Palmilla Resort in Mexico claimed first place.

Based on more than a million guest reviews on Expedia, the rankings took price, amenities and customer service into consideration.
