Jamie First

Melbourne Zoo's newest addition is already a star.

Coming to the silver screen, the baby elephant calf is one of many animals featuring in an hour-long documentary about Victoria's wildlife.

Zoo Vets explores the lives of animal doctors and keepers at Melbourne Zoo, Werribee Open Range Zoo and Healesville Sanctuary.

Providing a rare insight into what goes on behind the scenes, creatures large and small, feathered, furry and scaly all make an appearance.

The show will air at 7.30pm on Friday on Channel 9.
